CRUISE WINNERS – DOCUMENTATION REQUIREMENTS

If you are planning on joining us on the Victory Voyage and are a Mexico resident or a non-U.S. citizen living in the U.S., please be sure you have a valid PASSPORT in order to travel into Alaska.

If you are a Mexico resident, you also need a valid VISA for travel into the U.S. for the Alaska Cruise. Please note that procuring a visa may take 4 to 6 weeks. If you anticipate being a cruise winner, we suggest you secure a visa immediately. This is very important... please make arrangements in advance to be sure your passport is ready by the time the ship sails.

All Cruise winners are responsible for knowing their own country's requirements for travel into another country. Eniva will not be held responsible for a winner's failure to cruise due to a missing passport, visa or inadequate identification.

Check out the updated documentation requirements now available on the Alaska webpage in your back-end office.

Eniva's Victory Voyage

CRUISE UPDATE

INCREDIBLE Alaska Victory Voyage Announcements

“Great News! Now through the end of the Contest Period, we have ENHANCED the Contest Requirements and made special resources available to help even MORE Eniva Teammates get on The Boat!”

Read all THREE sections of the following announcement to help YOU and your Teammates join Eniva's Alaskan Victory Voyage Cruisers.

1. Contest Requirements to “Get Onboard” Enhanced!

A) For those individuals whose Eniva application date is PRIOR to January 20, 2006:

- 1) Achieve your contest goal volume and the position of Executive Regional Manager prior to the end of the contest period
- 2) Achieve at least one month of 7-level volume of $20,000 during the contest period
- 3) Regarding new frontline, personally-enrolled Regional Manager development:
 - a. Instead of needing to develop TWO frontline, personally-enrolled Regional Managers whose application date is after January 1, 2006, who achieve $5000 in 7-level volume in the same month, we're enhancing this requirement to read:
“Develop only ONE frontline, personally-enrolled Regional Manager whose application date is after January 1, 2006, who achieves $5000 in 7-level volume in a single month during the contest period!”

By meeting this enhanced contest criteria, you've made it on the boat!

B) For those individuals whose Eniva application date is AFTER January 20, 2006:

- 1) Achieve the position of Executive Regional Manager
- 2) Achieve at least one month of 7-level volume of $15,000 during the contest period
- 3) Regarding new frontline, personally-enrolled Regional Manager development:
 - a. Instead of needing to develop another (third) frontline, personally-enrolled Regional Manager who each achieve $3500 in 7-level volume in the same month prior to the end of the contest period, we're enhancing this requirement to read:
“The third frontline, personally-enrolled manager can be an Area Manager or above whose application date is after January 20, 2006, and who achieves at least $2500 in 7-level volume in a single month during the contest period!”

Please note: Frontline manager's 7-level volumes all must be achieved in the same month to meet this qualifier; 2 frontline RM's (or above) with at least $3500 each and 1 AM (or above) with at least $2500 – all managers meeting these volumes in the same month.

By meeting this enhanced contest criteria, you've made it on the boat!

VIBE® Junior

Just when you thought VIBE couldn't make life any better, along comes VIBE Junior! Similar in nature to the original VIBE, this less potent version is ideal for children or others who may not need the high concentrations of nutrients found in the regular version, and its kid-friendly taste makes it fun and easy to take.

VIBE® Junior:
The very best nutritional support for the leaders of tomorrow.

Balanced Nutrition

During early childhood, children need critical essential vitamins and nutrients for healthy growth and development. During adolescence, busy children need good nutrition, particularly when faced with fast foods, sweets and snacks. And into adulthood, often facing stress, poor digestion and unhealthy environmental influences, a comprehensive nutritional program is needed. When it comes to supporting a lifetime of healthy living, it is vital to understand that proper nutrition and exercise during childhood can make the difference between health or disease later in life.

ENIVA VIBE® JUNIOR contains essential nutrients, fruit and vegetable components, amino acids, and other beneficial ingredients to help promote healthy growth and development for children and adults.*

ENIVA VIBE® JUNIOR contains THREE proprietary nutritional blends to help promote success for children and adults:

1 SoluMAX® – Nutrition Support & Immune Health*

Balanced and bio-available blend of minerals, vitamins, and phytonutrients in a stabilized aqueous solution

2 Fru-Vega™ – Antioxidant Power*

Each serving contains the antioxidant ORAC score of one serving of fruits and vegetables from a proprietary blend of fruit and vegetable components

3 MightyMAX™ – Energy & Cellular Health*

L-carnitine, malic acid, and other amino acids including lysine, proline, and isoleucine promote balanced energy production and cellular integrity*

• Leading medical researchers and clinicians recommend that all individuals take a multi-nutrient supplement. ENIVA VIBE® JUNIOR not only meets medical recommendations, but has been specifically formulated to exceed the nutritional value of other liquid supplements.

• In the best interest of children and adults, ENIVA VIBE® JUNIOR is a unique formula and does not contain artificial sweeteners (such as aspartame), colors (such as FD&C colors), or hydrogenated oils commonly found in many popular children and adult formulas.

Healthy eating plays an important role to reduce chronic disease risk, yet on a daily basis, less than 50% of children consume the RDA recommended number of servings in any given pyramid food group and almost 80% do not eat the recommended number of nutrient-rich fruits and vegetables.

US Department of Agriculture, Agriculture Research Service, Family Economics and Nutrition Review, Trends in Food and Nutrient Intakes by Children in the US, CDC National Center for Chronic Disease Prevention and Health Promotion (www.cdc.gov/nccdcphp/bb_healthyyouth/index.html)

Manganese

Minerals for Life™ water-soluble Manganese is a dietary supplement containing manganese.

Manganese is a mineral that is required in small amounts to manufacture enzymes necessary for the metabolism of proteins and fat.* It also supports the immune system, blood sugar balance, and is involved in the production of cellular energy, reproduction, and bone growth.*

Manganese works with vitamin K to support normal blood clotting. Working with the B-complex vitamins, manganese helps promote a positive outlook when faced with stress, frustration, and anxiety.*

Manganese is an essential part of the biochemical reactions that are related to bone, cartilage, brain function, and energy supply. "Manganese has a definite impact on a person's mental activities, and if the mental faculties are to remain well-balanced and under control rather than unruly and chaotic, manganese must be balanced and supplied in proper quantities," says Dr. Bernard Jensen in his book The Chemistry of Man. Manganese is required for bone metabolism and in many enzyme reactions.* Jeanne Freeland-Graves, R.D., Ph.D. states, "This is one mineral that you will definitely be hearing more about in the future."

Manganese is the element that is often found in combination with lecithin. Lecithin is a brain and nerve fat. Manganese gives us strong nerves, coordination of thought, and promotes elasticity with body repair. Manganese is needed in the formation of thyroxine, which is produced by the thyroid gland.* Manganese is part of the entire brain system and is used whenever any of our mental faculties are utilized.*

Manganese makes up part of a molecule known as mucopolysaccharides. These molecules are used to form collagen, the strong, fibrous connective material that builds tissues throughout the body, including bone and cartilage, the rubbery cushioning found where bones meet.* The mesh of collagen is the framework on which calcium, magnesium, and other bone-hardening minerals are deposited.

Manganese is found in the bloodstream. It is metabolized in a similar way as iron. It carries oxygen from the lungs to the cell, yet it is different than iron as it is not hematinic.

Manganese is part of the proper development of the structure of the fragile ear bones and joint cartilage.* Although manganese is only found in small amounts in the body, it is vital and, if it is missing, it is impossible to maintain good health unless it is replaced.*

Manganese also influences the intestinal tract lining, biliary lining, laryngeal passages, excretory duct of the liver, the ovaries, and the linings of the generative organs.* It has a positive effect on the libido of men and women.* When researchers analyzed women's premenstrual symptoms, they noticed a clear pattern: Most women reported much less severe symptoms when they followed a diet high in both calcium and manganese.*

Manganese is almost never found in excess but is found lacking in many cases because it is found in only minute traces in some foods and is totally absent in many. Manganese is to be considered when a favorable effect is desired for linings, membranes, joints, ligaments, gelatinous and tubular structures.*

Manganese is involved in protein, fat, and energy metabolism, although its primary role is as an antioxidant.* Manganese is also a component of the immune-related enzyme, superoxide-dismutase.*

Manganese is an essential part of biochemical reactions that affect bone, cartilage, brain function, and energy.* It makes up part of the molecules known as mucopolysaccharides. These molecules are used to form collagen, the strong, healthy, fibrous connective tissue that helps to build tissues throughout the body, including cartilage and bone.

This Month's Important Updates

9. Puerto Rico Commissions Checks

As you know, the Puerto Rican government requires us to apply a 7% withholding tax to all earnings totaling $1500 or more. However, if your commission check was less than $1500 this past month, you may have noticed that you were also charged this 7% withholding tax. In order to correct this error, we will be adding that 7% to your commission check next month. This will ensure that you receive your correct earnings. Please note that once you have earned $1500 in commissions, your subsequent earnings will have the 7% withholding tax applied.

11. New 1% Puerto Rico Sales Tax beginning August 1

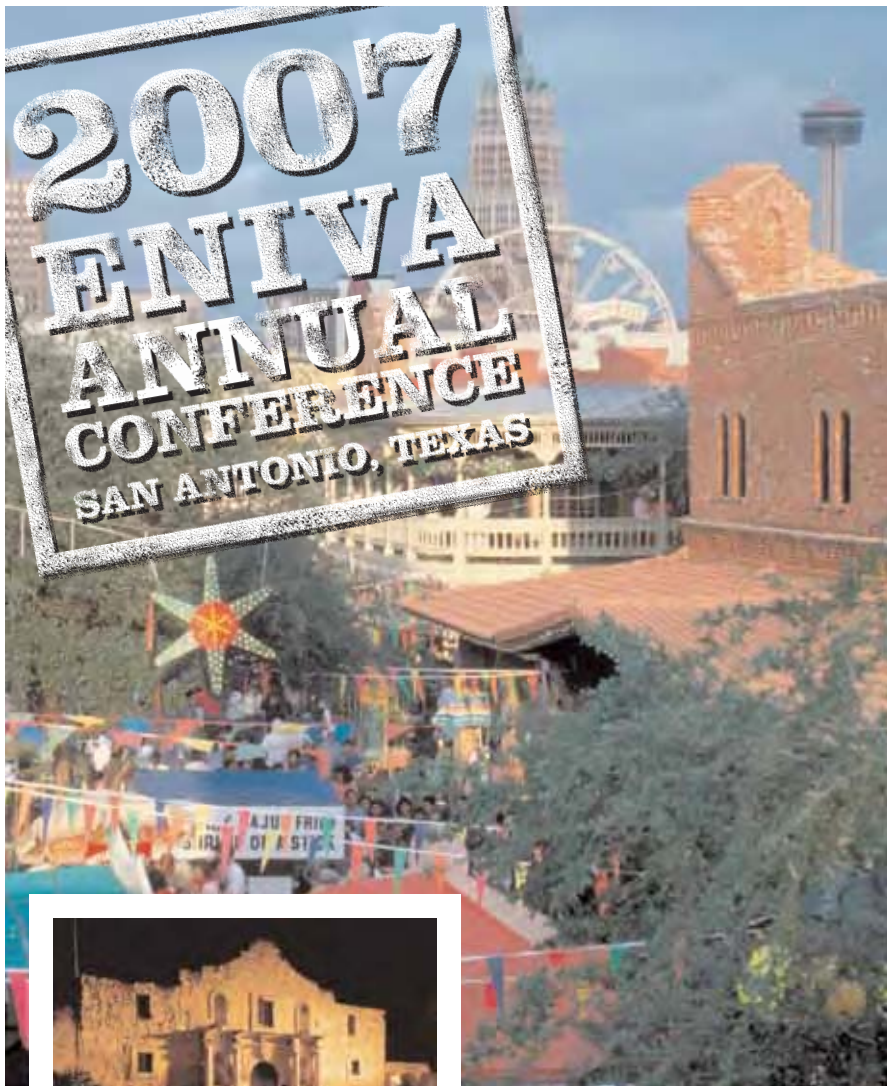

A new 1% sales tax has recently been implemented by the Puerto Rico Government. Beginning August 1, all orders placed in Puerto Rico will be charged a 1% sales tax in order to comply with this new sales tax requirement.

12. Mexico Business Builders

If you are helping others do business in Mexico, make sure to encourage them to read the Business Guidelines on the Eniva Mexico website... the Guidelines are NOW in SPANISH! The Mexico Business Guidelines can be found in your back-end office in the Resource Center.

13. Mexico Resident Cruise Winners: Passport & Visa are required for travel

In addition to a valid passport, Mexico residents are required to have a VALID VISA for travel into the U.S. for the Alaska Cruise. Please note that procuring a visa may take 4 to 6 weeks. If you anticipate being a cruise winner, we suggest you secure a visa immediately.
